NAVAL APPOINTMENTS.—The following appointments have been made at the Admiralty:—Sub-Lieutenants—R. C. S. Hunt, to the Endymion, to date Oct. 1; M. L. Goldsmith, to the Victorious, for the Conflict, to date Sept. 24; A. L. Strange, to the Glory, to date Sept. 24.

MARRIAGE.—The marriage has taken place of Percy Maclean Still, youngest son of the late Charles Frederick Still, J.P., of Hongkong, and Mary Margaret Johnstone, widow of James George Johnstone, of St. Andrews, and sixth daughter of the late Thomas Duff, J.L., D.L., of Harefield, Hanis, and formerly of Aberlour, Banffshire.

MORE MARRIAGES.—The following marriages have taken place:—Mr. William Francis Parry de Winton, second son of Mr. William de Winton, of Maesderwen, Brecon, to Miss Margaret Lewis, youngest daughter of Sir William Lewis, in St. Peter's Church, Eaton-square. Captain Henry Bigge, R.N., brother of Sir Arthur Bigge, to Miss Beatrice Wade, daughter of the late Canon Wade, of St. Anne's, Soho, in Christ Church, Mayfair.

THE BRITISHERS' HEART often yearns for his bitter beer and when he meets such an excellent substitute as Lemps, he chuckles and goes baldheaded for it. Lemps Beer was rather looked down upon at first as being too light, but its unvaried quality and pure character has forced it to the front and now it can be procured in any hotel that pretends to study the taste of its customers, or wholesale from the agent, Mr. C. Coy, of New Victoria Buildings.

THE GERMAN COALING STATION in the Red Sea is to be carried on as a limited liability company. Headed by the Hamburg-America Line, the mercantile marine of Hamburg and Bremen, which is interested in the passage through the Suez Canal, will participate in the venture. It is calculated that the yearly consumption will be about 400,000 tons, without including the Imperial Navy. Mr. Oscar Godefroy, from Hamburg, will be manager of the company.

BRAVO CANADIANS! It is not often that we hear of the Boers being surprised (that part of the play seems to have been especially reserved for the British) and it is very refreshing to see the tables turned for once in a while. What will the pro-Boers say about it, we wonder? Of course they will say surprises are unfair when conducted by the British, and Mr. Stead will add another "damin" to his warcry. What awful people these Canadians must be in pro-Boer eyes!

DE WET is dead, says Reuter, but we somehow or other are rather inclined to doubt it. De Wet has led us such a dance over the South African veldt that it would not seem right for him to go and die quietly and respectfully in his bed, and we shall be sceptical about reports of his death and take them with a pinch of salt until we have the evidence of eye witnesses. Certainly, we have heard little of him of late, but that may only be because he was taking a rest from being "surrounded."

CRICKET.

THE STRAITS TEAM.

Owing to the great difficulties in the way of Native States men getting leave, the bulk of the Straits team for Hongkong, quite contrary to all precedent, will have to be supplied from Singapore this year.

The cricket team for Hongkong will be constituted as follows:—
Capt. Dewing, J. G. Macgarran, C. F. Green, G. M. Billings, W. Langham, Carter, H. W. Sharp, A. G. Wright, D. Kerr, M. H. Whitley, A. B. Voulas, Capt. Ainslie, R. McKenzie, C. W. Barkshire.

The thirteen men mentioned will not make by any means the best team, but still it will be fairly good, considering that neither of the Hubbards nor of the Glassfords are going, and R. T. Reid is now in Scotland.

As some of the Straits Team will probably be leaving in Mail of the 18th November, the following are the dates of the Interport Cricket Matches, but there may be some alterations.
Hongkong v. Straits 17th & 18th November
Shanghai v. Straits 13th & 14th November
Hongkong v. Shanghai 15th & 16th November
The dates for the Tennis Matches will be fixed later on.

There is no provision for football or other incidental games, except, perhaps, tennis. In that case for singles and doubles the Straits would have to rely upon Dewing, Green, and Ainslie.—S. F. Press.

AT THE MAGISTRACY.

COOLIE MOB LAW.

For refusing to complete a ricksha journey coolie Lam Wo had to pay $3.

OPIMUM CASE.

Opium cases were many and varied, and fines ranged from $4 to $85.

A WARNING.

Three coolies each paid $3 for obstructing the free transit of passengers by persistent solicitation of passengers in Queen's Road Central at the entrance to the Hongkong Hotel. It appeared that the coolies ran out with their chairs to people coming out of the Hotel without being called.

A QUEER EXCUSE.

Hung Shing had in his possession a red blanket, value about $3.80, reasonably suspected of having been stolen or unlawfully obtained. He told Mr. Halliday that he bought it but could not explain how he got the money unless it was by gambling. $5 or 14 days.

COTTAM & CO. DRESS SHIRTS, TIES and COLLARS.

ACTIVE SERVICE.

Pvt. Lewis, of the R.W.F., stationed at the Mount Austin Barracks, assaulted the police in the execution of their duty and was fined $10.

THEFT.

Wong Yui Sze was charged with stealing from a lock-fast cash box, at 24 Queen's Road Central, the sum of $114, the property of Wong Tai Fong dentist, of 24 Queen's Road Central, and also with stealing a lock fast cash box, a pair of spectacles, one piece of silver and a copper cent, of the total value of $4.01, also the property of the complainant in the preceding charge. The first charge was withdrawn, and on the second prisoner was sent to gaol for two months with hard labour in addition to receiving 12 strokes with the birchrod.

PRO TANTO!

"WHOSO SHEDDETH MAN'S BLOOD, BY MAN SHALL HIS BLOOD BE SHED."

The Magistrate said:—It only remains to impose penalties in this case. The Owner is fined $50 on each charge, and as there are ten charges, it amounts to $500.

An eye for an eye, a tooth for a tooth, This was the ancient law; A limb for a limb, a life for a life, By this our father's swore. But now we have come on degenerate days, Nobody troubles to pay For injury done to the lowly poor— That's not a civilized way!

A life was, aforesaid, a precious thing, The slayer of man was slain, The door of hurt made recompense By suffering equal pain. But things are changed since the olden time And life is thrown away— It's only for robbing your neighbour's goods You nowadays have to pay!

In ancient times, your neighbour's wife Was a sacred being to you; For his daughter's betrayal he asked a life— 'Twas the only thing to do. But now we work on a different plan, The good old days are dead— You don't take a club and despatch the man, But accept his gold instead!

In days of old, the widow's wealth Was safe in the hands of a friend; For any trustee who'd embezzle her pelf Would come to a bloody end. But now she appeals to a court of law, A proceeding remarkably rash, For, even if she happens to gain the day, The lawyers have swallowed the cash!

But a life for a life is the law no more, The value of life has declined, Eleven dollars and eighty-eight cents Is the popular price you'll find; This was paid for forty and three, Who took their final call From a landlord's greed and a jerry-built house, With a gingerbread party wall!

Eleven dollars and eighty-eight cents (Five-hundred dollars in all) For forty-three sent to eternity By a jerry-built party wall! How many children fatherless, How many widowed wives, Made by greed, and by carelessness Of the value of human lives? GILAH.

RUSSIA v. JAPAN.

IS IT A PORTENT?

At the Tivoli on 18th ulto, an enormous audience had assembled to see a Russian light-weight wrestler try conclusions with one of Mr. Barton-Wright's Japanese exponents of Bartitsu. However, no collision between Russia and Japan was forthcoming on this occasion. Mr. Barton-Wright informed the audience that the challenger was in the house, was indeed at the wings, but had thought better of his challenge. Mr. Barton-Wright proceeded to say that he had vainly offered the challenger £100, not by way of wage but as a gift, if he scored a single throw, but the Russian exponent of wrestling still declined to meet his Japanese rival.

THE HOUSE OF COMMONS.

FOR THE COMFORT OF MEMBERS.

The hearts of members of the House of Commons, and particularly of those who dine and smoke on the premises, will rejoice at the report published by the Select Committee which was appointed in March last to consider "whether any, and what, arrangements can be made to improve the accommodation provided for the general use of members of this House." The whole of the alterations will, it is estimated, cost £30,000. The great smoking-room grievance is to be redressed. The Committee recommends that the present members' smoking-room be used as the strangers' dining-room, that the present middle dining-room be reserved for members only, and that the third dining-room, next to the House of Lords, be used as a smoking-room. "There can be no doubt, however," it says, "that a large increase in the smoking-room accommodation is urgently called for." It proceeds to annex three large rooms fronting the terrace, two for smoking and one for reading. Hearing that "great inconvenience is caused to members for want of dining accommodation," there being room for only 140 dinners, while often 300 dinners have to be served, and members thus having to wait at the tables, the Committee recommends two new dining-rooms on the terrace front, one of which ladies should be admitted. The Times reporters' room is to be added to the refreshment-room of the Ladies' Gallery, and the defective ventilation of the Ladies' Gallery is to be the subject of remedial experiments.

COTTAM & CO. FOOTBALL KNICKERS.

DELAYED WARSHIPS.

A BAD STATE OF AFFAIRS.

The commissioning of the Formidable to replace the Resolution in the Channel Squadron gives us, says a naval correspondent, another first-class battleship, just about two years behind her originally promised date of completion. Laid down in March, 1898, it was proposed that she should be at sea in the winter of 1899. She was launched in November, 1898, and has been in all over three and a-half years in the dockyard hands. This is a sad decline from the days of the Magnificent and Majestic. Meanwhile, attention should certainly be directed to the inordinate delays which are attending the despatch to sea of the new armoured cruisers Suffey, Cressy, and Aboukir. The ships were delivered many months ago; the Cressy commissioned for China on May 28, when the accident to her tiller placed her upon the sick-list. That the space of three and a-half months should have been required to repair the damage is not a little disconcerting. Armoured cruisers are badly needed in China and the Mediterranean, so that every motive exists for pressing these vessels forward. It may be hoped that the Hogue, delivered this week by the contractors, will be sent to sea with greater expedition.

THE GRIMSBY TROUBLE.

FURTHER RIOTING.

Further serious rioting occurred at Grimsby Docks on the 19th ulto. In the forenoon a mob attacked offices recently vacated by the Owners' Federation, and smashed the windows of these and other premises. During the afternoon there was another outbreak, and the angry crowd resorted to such violence that the police, amid a hail of missiles, were ordered to charge the disturbers with their truncheons. As a result a number of persons, some innocent onlookers, were injured. Military reinforcements arrived in the evening, when the Riot Act was read. A fire, suspected to be the act of an incendiary, broke out in a timber yard, and up to a late hour the town remained in a turbulent state.

SIR T. LIPTON ON RECREATION.

A SPORTSMAN WHO DOES NOT BET.

In an interview with Sir Thomas Lipton, which appears in the September number of the Windsor Magazine, it is interesting to learn that Sir Thomas Lipton is a sportsman who does not bet. Speaking of recreations in general, Sir Thomas says:

"It is hardly necessary to ask me if I am a believer in Saturday's half-holiday and Sunday's rest. It is a mistake, mentally and physically, for any man to work seven days without ceasing, however young and strong he may be, and however ardent to make strides in business. Off-hours from my business I spend, as far as possible, in the open air; I leave behind me the City at night. Even now, when of necessity I dine frequently in London, I drive ten miles into the country to sleep; the extra trouble and the loss of time are well repaid by the pure air. That is my opinion, and I leave others to smile at the suburbs. Gardening I agree with Lord Tennyson in thinking the most perfect of recreations; it gives you just enough to think about to be a complete distraction, yet not enough to worry you; and it is work-play done under delightful conditions. The hour in the garden at the beginning of the day or at its close is worthy many sacrifices in the winning. Though I have never been able to get to bed before midnight, I am always up at seven—an allowance of sleep that is less by an hour than Lord Palmerston gave out as indispensable, at any rate for a statesman. Other spare half-hours at home go to outdoor games—cricket, golf, tennis, and bowls.

BILLIARDS—GRAND EXERCISE.

"If one must be indoors, a game of billiards I find to be a grand exercise. You walk miles, to begin with, and a private table is a great attraction to keep together the young members of a household in the evenings. From all this, it follows I am not a great theatre-goer. I do not think I sat out a play more than twelve times in my life, and never did I do so till the last very few years. My parents, being old-fashioned and church-going, had never seen the glare of the footlights, and I felt that I could not properly allow the time to give myself up to being amused for so long by other people, in a vitiated atmosphere. I felt I could do better for myself. Half an hour in a musical hall seemed to be a different matter—you could hear the song you wished to hear and then come away. All the same, some of the nicest people I have ever known belonged to the stage. Sport and gambling are often supposed to be inseparable. Many millions of dollars are put upon yacht-racing, but never a dollar by me. I have yet to make my first bet. I race purely for the pleasure of the sport; and I would not bet on my own boat or any other."

COMMISSION TO REVISE CHINESE TARIFF.

An effort is being made, says an American paper, to send a commission of business men to Peking and Shanghai to attend the conferences between representatives of the powers who will fix the tariff schedule for China. The international commission will be composed of representatives of all the governments which are interested in the regulation of Chinese markets. The commission will meet at either Shanghai or Peking probably holding sessions in each city, and will be engaged in the work for a year.

A thorough inquiry will be made into the business conditions of China and the tariff will be formed largely with the idea of guaranteeing money enough to pay the indemnities.

RUSSIA AND CHINA.

"CODLIN'S THE FRIEND"

The Moscow Correspondent of the Standard writes as follows:—

The Russian Government has for some time past been encouraging those of its subjects who have sustained losses in consequence of the war to send in full returns of their claims. It is to be noted also that, as from time to time the date of signing the Peking Protocol was put off, so was the final date for receiving these claims of Russian subjects postponed. Russia has been engaged in making up a bill, into which will enter as a principal item the damage to the Manchurian Railway, and is not anxious for this little claim to take definite shape until the rest of Europe is safely out of China. Throughout the whole period of the Chinese troubles, Russia has officially maintained the fiction that she is a friendly Power, compelled unwillingly to appear among the members of the European Concert, and has really all the time remained China's best friend. If Russia put 12,000 unarmed Chinese into the River Amur it was an "unfortunate accident that these poor creatures, especially the women and children, could not swim a mile across a rapid stream. There should have been a ford. "Very good place for a ford," said a Chinese pilot to a Russian Correspondent of the Nouvelles Vremes, which reported the sarcasm; "very good place. Water not more than 50 fathoms deep about here!" It was a most friendly act to China, for was she not assisting the Chinese Government to root out the Boxers? If she has seized and strongly garrisoned Manchuria, has built, and is still building barracks and forts—by no means confined to the line of her railway—is it not that the Chinese Government, weakened by the events of the past year, may rest assured that peace will be restored in one large Province of its Empire. And, when that is done, has not Russia promised to return the Province of Manchuria, with all improvements, to its original owners? Was not Russia the first to withdraw her troops from Chihli, and did she not all along protest against the butcheries of Commander-in-Chief Waldersee? Is not Russia the nearest neighbour of China, and have not the two Empires had commercial and Diplomatic relations of centuries? In short, is not Russia the natural friend of China, and has she not proved so, even of late?

The Russian Press is already beginning to foreshadow the views which must henceforth be held by loyal Russians. Russia has more than once saved China from dismemberment, and has spent millions of money and thousands of lives in doing it. She desires only to see China at peace and independent, and she will use all her endeavours to prevent the Western Powers from interfering with this object. The whole imbroglio, which has now ended with the Peking Protocol, is happily over; and China will enter into her old friendly relations with her natural friend, Russia, the tie being only the more closely drawn by recent events, which have proved to China how bitterly hostile to Chinese ways—beginning with religion and the missionaries, with whom Russia has never troubled her neighbour—and at the same time, how comparatively impotent are all the Western barbarians taken together. Russia is the friend, and a speedy settlement of her own little private account, for which the simplest and easiest terms will gladly be granted, will enable her to promise China that the Western barbarian shall never again repeat the abortive, but humiliating, expeditions of a Waldersee. And thus Russia will before long legalise her position in Manchuria beyond the possibility of dispute, and join China to prevent anyone else attempting a similar course of action elsewhere in the Middle Kingdom.

The same journal's Odessa Correspondent says:—By the Russian journals of all shades of political opinion, and by leading Russian politicians holding divergent views with regard to this country's Far Eastern policy, the choice of M. Lessar, under present circumstances and conditions, is unanimously declared to be the best which could have been made. Neither England nor any other Western Power, it is said, is ever likely to have cause to suspect that its interests in China are being unfairly undermined by the Russian Representative at Peking in the person of Paul Lessar.

THE REGENERATION OF CHINA.

WHAT PROFESSOR DOUGLAS THINKS.

Professor Douglas, in a letter to The Times, says that if the regeneration of China depended on the action likely to be taken by the diplomats at Peking we should have to despair of the future. Happily, however, there are other forces at work which hold out substantial hope of improvement. He notes the spirit of intellectual unrest, of inquiry, and of movement that is abroad in the empire. Men are beginning to ask themselves whether the full sum of human wisdom is really contained within the limits of the Confucian philosophy, and to inquire whether those "dwarfs" (the Japanese) who lately put their armies to ignominious rout, and those "foreign devils" who captured Peking, may not be the possessors of some knowledge which is not dreamed of in their philosophy. For the growing inquiry and the little knowledge he puts down much to the missionaries and more to the very useful "Society for the Diffusion of Christian and General Knowledge among the Chinese." He notes several of the signs, the records of which have already found space in our columns from time to time. They may in some instances only be indications, and in others to be of such limited extent as to have little appreciable influence on the empire and people at large. With the advent of railways and extension of water communications, this movement must grow, and we may hope, tend to a better understanding between East and West. The Chinaman will have to disabuse his mind of the intense conceit that arises through ignorance. An extended knowledge will do this; and if progress is slow, something, at least being done.

NORTH BORNEO TRADING CO. (LTD.).

The fourth ordinary general meeting of the North Borneo Trading Company (Limited) was held on 17th ulto, Mr. A. J. Scrutton presiding.

In moving the adoption of the report the Chairman congratulated the shareholders on a more favourable statement. There was every reason to believe that the improvement would continue.

Mr. C. P. Bennett (managing director), in seconding the motion, said he was sure that the shareholders would participate in the Board's regret at the retirement from the position of general manager in Borneo of Mr. Roberts, whose health had broken down. The new manager, Mr. Altman, had been with the company for nine years and had given Mr. Roberts and the directors every satisfaction. He thought the shareholders would appreciate the fact that a good reserve for depreciation was being built up, and with the £640 transferred to that account on the present occasion the amount was increased to £1,950. As regarded the outlay on the development of estates, they had all been improved to a far greater extent than was represented by the figures appearing in the balance-sheet. The directors regarded the Sekong plantation, for rubber cultivation, as a fine investment. About 40,000 trees had been planted, and this work was being continued. At the present moment they had at least 35,000 good trees. The consignments of timber to China in 1900 amounted to £5,888 as compared with over £8,000 in the previous year. This trade had been hindered owing to the troubles in that country. As regarded the profit and loss account, the profit on the sale of the W. B. Pryer, £691, was in no sense exceptional, and they hoped that it would be repeated in future accounts. Two similar vessels were now being built for the company, and for one of them an offer had been received which would show a profit larger than that derived from the sale of the W. B. Pryer. The net profit for 1900, after making all deductions, was £2,198, which was equal to a dividend of 2½ per cent. on the paid-up capital, and this was a comparison with a loss in the preceding year of £1,799. The accounts up to date for the present year showed that the volume of business was about equal to that of last year, or perhaps rather more; and the profit had been quite as good. China in the past year had been a closed market to them, but to make up for this business had been done at Manila and Singapore. Replying to questions, Mr. Bennett said it was not the intention of the Board at present to call up the remaining 6s. per share, nor was it their intention to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Mr. Bogardt (director) through ill-health. He agreed that there was no depreciation on their principal asset, land, which they held for 999 years. Their Borneo manager's commission was larger this year owing to the profits being greater.

The motion was unanimously adopted, and a resolution was passed thanking Mr. Roberts for his services and regretting his retirement. A vote of thanks to the chairman and directors terminated the proceedings.

THE FRENCH NAVY.

A GHASTLY FAILURE.

France has had her first 23-knot armoured cruiser on trial, after devoting some five years to construction and preparation, and the results have been most unfortunate. The first, the Jeanne d'Arc, is a vessel which was taken as a reply to our Powerful and Terrible, and she is 447 ft. long and displaces 11,349 tons, having a broadside of Harvey's armour 6 in. in thickness, tapering to 3 in. at the ends. With 28,000 indicated horse-power she was to go 23 knots when carrying 1,400 tons of coal in her bunkers. She has been out several times with less coal and failed to get berspeed. In the first place, says the United Service Gazette, her engines were to run at 120 revolutions, as in the case of our later cruisers; but before 110 revolutions was reached they developed great heat in nearly all bearings, which, it is said, were inadequate in surface. There are on board 36 boilers of the small-tube express type, and it is said that the feed arrangements became choked, with the result that five of them got red hot, but in no case was any damage done. The highest speed got in a series of attempts was 18 knots, and there is some talk of replacing the boilers, which are of the Guyot type, with some other design. In the Chateaufort, which is a smaller cruiser without side armour, also fitted with small-tube boilers, the failure was said to be due to the tunnel and propeller-shaft bearings proving unsatisfactory. Both ships will probably be the subject of special inquiry, and it will probably be discovered that to gain protection and high speed the factor of safety and the weights of boilers and engines have been reduced to an impracticable extent.

THE CHINA NAVIGATION CO.

LAUNCH OF THE "HUEH"

On 13th ulto, Messrs. Scott and Co., Greenock, launched the steel screw steamer Hueh, built to the order of the China Navigation Company (Limited). The principal dimensions are:—Length, 275 ft.; breadth, 38 ft.; and depth, 22 ft. She has been constructed for the company's cargo trade between Chinese ports, and she will have a deadweight carrying capacity of 2,600 tons. Messrs. Scott and Co. will supply her with triple-expansion engines, capable of giving a speed of 11 knots an hour. The Hueh is the fourth vessel of an order of six, two of which are twin-screw steamers.

PRINCE CHUN IN GERMANY.

A VISIT TO HAMBURG.

The principal event of the week, here at Hamburg has been the unexpected visit of Prince Chun and his suite, who arrived here on 18th ulto, to inspect our harbour, &c., says a correspondent of a home paper. The Senate of Hamburg, however, was fully on the alert, and so the Prince was not only welcomed at the station with full honours, but also found a residence, furnished by the Senate, in the best hotel of Hamburg, where 20 large rooms were reserved for himself and retinue. The Prince, an intelligent looking young man, behaved in the manner of a first-class European potentate, and if his stay at the capital for the first few hours may perhaps have been a little painful to him, his reception at Hamburg all through has been as hearty as possible. The Imperial Government, however, had honoured the Prince by a suite of honours, consisting of several high officers of the Foreign Office—General von Richter, Baron von Seckendorff, and Baron von Tscherning. Nine first-class carriages were ready for the Chinese guests when they arrived here. The Prince and suite before leaving us again inspected the harbours of Hamburg and all other principal points of interest, and appeared highly satisfied in every respect. As to Hamburg, it was from the first a matter of fact that a high dignitary of China would meet here with all possible honours, as the Chinese always have met the Hamburg vessels and Hamburg merchants with the utmost civility, and many a dollar now in the banks of Hamburg has been earned in China, where Hamburg vessels were favoured fifty years ago. From Hamburg the Prince and his followers left again for the capital, and yesterday they arrived at Danzig, where they were highly welcomed with full honours, although they were looked at by the crowd with that curiosity which is paid to exotic personages. The Prince is at present at the large military manoeuvres taking place at present in the Danzig plains, where he and his suite will be able to gain impressions of the military forces of the German nation.

U. S. COAL IN THE MEDITERRANEAN.

AN INTERESTING EXPERIMENT.

The Shipping Gazette says that it is quite clear that American competition in the coal trade is no mere spectre conjured up by the imaginative alarmist. The shipments of coal from the United States to the Mediterranean, it says, are still going forward, and 50,000 tons of American screened steam coal has been sold at 18s. c.i.f., Genoa. The freight on this coal is at present only 8s. a ton, while from Newcastle and Cardiff from 5s. 9d. to 6s. must be paid, even in the present extraordinary bad state of the freight market. Certainly the two shillings a ton saved in freight from England falls far short of eliminating the difference in the price of the coal, for best Northumberland steam cannot now be bought at less than 13s. 6d. f.o.b., which leaves the Newcastle merchant 1s. 6d. on the wrong side.

Attention was recently drawn to this matter by Mr. Gurney, the British Consul General at Marseilles, in his report, which refers to a consignment of American coal sold there at a loss on freight alone of 4s. a ton.

BEET vs. SUGAR-CANE.

The results of certain experiments carried out in the North-West Provinces seem to be opposed to the suggestion that beet can be profitably substituted for cane as a sugar-producer in India. Two very serious obstacles seem to present themselves in this country. To secure good results, it is necessary to have the land thoroughly and deeply worked so that the roots may have a sufficiently friable soil to the depth of fourteen to sixteen inches. In Europe and America this is obtained by employing a plough to the depth of six to ten inches, followed by a sub-soiler going six to seven inches deeper; but this process is considered to be quite beyond the capacity of Northern India ryots, and the only substitute is hand-tillage, the soil being further pulverised by working with a plough—an expensive and laborious process. In the second place it is pointed out that sugar-beet is quite unsuitable for making gur. Attempts in this direction only resulted in the production of a dirty-looking stuff, utterly unfit for consumption and useless to the refiner. If sugar beet is to be introduced as a field crop, it must, it is stated, depend on the establishment of the central factory system; but this is not considered immediately practicable. The experiments with sugar-beet are by no means complete; but, so far as they go, they tend to show that, in the North-West Provinces, the root has no advantage over sugar-cane; and that the tillage and manuring required for beet would give at least equally good results devoted to cane.

THE GERMAN ARMY MANOEUVRES.

THE POT AND THE KETTLE.

German soldiers have not been sparing in their criticism of our conduct of the war in South Africa, says a mail paper, but do not seem as if they had very much to be proud of in the mimic battle they fought on 17th ulto. at Danzig, when the invading army completely wiped out the defenders. The Kaiser is said to have been bitterly disappointed. The defending army made the attack, and those in command had not learned the South African lessons about scouting. They were led into a sort of trap, and their magnificent horse was in a moment exposed to an annihilating fire followed by a charge of the enemy's cavalry. So utter was the defeat of the defenders that it would seem as if the manoeuvres were over. If in mimic warfare German soldiers can make such appalling mistakes it is not to be expected that in real warfare everything would go well. Those who are so pessimistic about the British Army may be referred to the German defence of Danzig for a little comfort.

FO. EIGN PRESS AND THE BRITISH NAVY.

The foolish reports circulated as to revelations of inefficiency in the British Fleet during the recent naval manoeuvres are regarded by serious journals in Brussels, says the Times, correspondent, as the re-echo of a sentiment which tends to decry everything British at the present moment. The following instructive comments are from the Independence Belge, written, of course, from a pro-Boer, if moderate, point of view:—

There is at the present moment a general tendency to disparage every act of English policy, a tendency which must be guarded against, because it is inspired by an overheated imagination, and in no sense answers to the state of the case. The fact that the British army has proved itself below par in South Africa by no means proves that British power has been exaggerated, or that the nickname of "the Colossus with clay feet" is not an exaggeration.

This Army, which has proved itself so mediocre in South Africa, has done remarkably well elsewhere, and its actual mediocrity is due to the fact that its organization in no way corresponds with the work which it has been called upon to perform. The British Army is not an army of conquest; it has always had, the character of a colonial police. The error of the Imperial Government has been in using it for a war which could only be successfully waged by armies modelled on the French or German systems.

But it is different with the English fleet; and until proof is forthcoming to the contrary, we are justified in considering it a naval force of the first rank. Its progress has not, perhaps, kept pace in modern years with that of the French and German navies, but it answers to all the requirements of defence for England's vast Colonial Empire; and it is ridiculous to depreciate it systematically, as is sometimes done, merely out of the bitterness of feeling which has been engendered by England's Imperialist policy in South Africa.
